NOTE TO CORRESPONDENTS

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold will leave this evening for Amman, Jordan, on Pan American World Airways Flight 66 scheduled to leave at 6:30 p.m., from Idlewild.

The Secretary-General will be accompanied on his departure for Amman by Geoffrey Murray, Director, Department of Political and Security Council Affairs; George Ivan Smith, Director of External Relations Division, Office of Public Information; and by William Ranallo, his personal aide.

The PAA Flight stops briefly tomorrow in Paris (11:05^{AW}-12:15 p.m.) and Rome (3:05-4:00 p.m.) before landing in Beirut at 9:50 p.m. The Secretary-General will proceed to Amman early Wednesday morning in an UNTSO DC-3 plane.

The Secretary-General plans to remain in Amman through Saturday morning, 30 August, when he is scheduled to leave for Geneva to attend the opening of the second International Conference on the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy. He will stay in Geneva through Tuesday afternoon, 2 September, when he is scheduled to leave for Cairo on TWA Flight 826 arriving in Cairo on Wednesday, 3 September, at 3:40 a.m.

The Secretary-General plans to remain in the Middle East for a couple of weeks and, as he mentioned in his press conference on Friday, 22 August (Note No. 1862), his travel plans are not definite yet beyond Cairo although they will include Beirut and Baghdad.
