4 September 1959

Sir,

I have the honour to confirm our telephone conversation in which I stated that the Secretary-General had asked me to approach you formally on his behalf with the suggestion that you would be good enough to engage in the necessary consultations with your colleagues on the Security Council with a view to having a meeting of the Security Council either next Sunday or Monday to consider the letter of 4 September from the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Royal Government of Laos to the Secretary-General.

Accept, Sir, the assurances of my highest consideration.

Andrew W. Cordier,

the Secretary-General

His Excellency,
