UN SECRETARY-GENERAL VISITS LAOS

UN 60980 - VIENTIANE, Laos, 9 March 1959

In the course of his current visit to ten member nations, UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold called on officials of the Government of Laos and met with UN personnel in Vientiane. The visit is one of a series of trips to member countries which the Secretary-General undertakes from time to time when his other responsibilities permit.

While in Vientiane, Mr. Hammarskjold and his party took part in the Basi ceremony, a traditional Laotian way of honouring and wishing well to someone. Part of the ceremony involves the tying of cotton cords draped from bowls of flowers to the wrists of the person being honoured, while the Lao elders recite a blessing. Mr. HAMMARSKJOLD is seen here (center) as the Basi cord is tied around his wrists by one of the elders (back to camera). At left is Mr. Pheng Phone SAVAN, President of the National Assembly; and at right, Foreign Minister Khampan PANYA.
