22 March 1956

Since my return to Headquarters, this is the first opportunity I have had to thank you and members of your staff for the many services which assisted me so well during my visit to the Middle East.

In the first place, my thanks are due to you for your personal attention. It was of great benefit to me to have your counsel and experience so readily available.

The Captain and the officers of your aircraft were so courteous and efficient that I would like you to thank them personally on my behalf.

It was also a long anticipated pleasure for me to visit your Headquarters and to meet those who are working with you in this very important field of international activity. Thank you, too, for the delightful luncheon at your Headquarters.

With every good wish,

Yours sincerely,

Dag Hammarskjold
