As a Sarpanch of Fatehpur Biloch, I feel sure that you assisted in the preparations for the warm welcome given to me by the people of the village.

I shall never forget the pleasure I felt when meeting your people in the streets and at the meeting ground and I shall always recall the way in which they expressed their loyalty to the United Nations and their keen interest in its work.

The address of welcome that was given to me will be kept in my archives to remind me very often of our friends in Fatehpur Biloch.

I trust that you will accept, as a token of my gratitude, a small present which will shortly be sent to you for the people of your village. Would you be kind enough to convey my thanks to them and to say also how much I appreciated the music and dancing as part of their unforgettable welcome.

Yours sincerely,

Dag Hammarskjold
