OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

9 May 1956

Dear Mr. Secretary-General:

Had I not been out of town a good deal recently, I should have tried to have had a note on your desk before your return. I do want now to congratulate you on a magnificent performance. I know that the success you had, which is very real, was your own and that, on those points where you achieved less than you had hoped to do, the fault lay in others.

As one who believes in peace and in the United Nations, I consider your mission, and your conduct of it, a great credit to the latter in the pursuit of the former.

With highest personal regards,

Sincerely yours,

Joseph E. Johnson

Dear Mr. Johnson,

I am grateful to you for your note of 9 May regarding my mission to the Middle East. I know that you are thoroughly aware of the difficulties under which we worked and therefore realize with how much constant concern the situation will have to be followed in the coming months. The value of what may have been established will depend on whether or not it is used as the starting point for a development in a new and sound direction.

With warm personal regards.

Very sincerely yours,

Dag Hammarskjold
